effective online ministry...

How can our church have an impact in the 21st century?

That may be a question you have been asking. Churches across the world are exploring new ways and means of sharing their faith to those outside the church doors.

In this fast-paced era of digital communications, it is crucial that we have the tools capable of aiding our mission. Time and time again we see churches already testifying to the effectiveness of online ministry.

A quality website can help you reach a wider audience, advertise events and church programme, provide access to your church history, maintain communications with former members and friends, distribute webcasts and newsletters plus much more!

Proclaim IT has been developed to give your church the tools they need to run an effective, sustainable, dynamic and feature-filled website with minimal computer know-how.
